

BIG THRILL for a small boy. David Whitaker, New Lenox, 3 1/2 year old son of Police Magistrate and Mrs. Ronald Whitaker, had a big time last Saturday night when he attended the

New Lenox fire department. The biggest thrill, of course, was when he was allowed to sit in the driver's seat of the new pumper and get his hands on the wheel.

Board Begins Planning To Meet Growth Problem

Altho no decision was made, three representatives of architectural firms were interviewed by members of the Lincoln Way high school board at its meeting last Thursday night.

This is the first step in the preliminary planning for the growth of the school. The board estimates that there will be about 1,000 students entering in the fall of 1962 and an estimated 1,100 students at the 1963 September term. There are more than 800 enrolled this year. It has been said that there is a possibility of an extended day next year to accommodate additional classes.

Interviewed were Watson Healy of the Kruegel, Healy and Moore firm from Joliet, William J. Connor of William J. Connor and Associates of Harvey and John V. McPherson of McPherson, Swing and Associates, Homewood. The Childs and Smith firm of Chicago has previously done architectural work at Lincoln Way. Board members made it clear that they were not unhappy with Childs and Smith, but felt that it was their duty to "shop around."

Most critically crowded areas, in addition to conventional classrooms, are the business education and science departments and the library.

For the first time in nine years, since Lincoln Way's beginning, there were insufficient moneys in the building fund to meet payments of $30,000 due on building bonds. This is due to the county school office withholding about 25 per cent of the taxes to be distributed, it was explained. The deficiency amounts to $16,000. The board voted to issue tax warrants to meet the payments.

School Superintendent A. Hunter Chapman said that $20,000 in taxes are being objected to this year by the railroads. He also pointed out that there is still $10,000 from the previous year in objection.

During the board's meeting, the Citizens' Advisory committee held a separate organizational meeting for the coming year. Robert Wheeler of Lincoln Estates, chairman of the building sub-committee, resigned due to business commitments. A vacancy was filled on the Central committee by Frank Mlakar of New Lenox. He is presently on the publicity committee for the proposed Community Junior college.

Football Game, Dance To Highlight Homecoming

The annual homecoming dance, highlight of Homecoming at Lincoln Way high school, will be held Saturday, Oct. 21, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., sponsored by the junior class.

The 1950 alumni, first class to be graduated from Lincoln Way, and all other alumni, including students presently enrolled, may attend the reunion-type affair. Tickets are $1.50 a couple.

Starting the day will be the football game between the Lincoln Way Knights and the Homewood-Flossmoor Vikings. The queen and her court, consisting of two other seniors, a junior, a sophomore and a freshman, will be presented at half-time. They will precede the homecoming dance in the evening.

The dance is semi-formal. Music will be supplied by Bill Carnegie and his orchestra.

Committees and their chairmen are decorations, Gayle Schmidt; refreshments, Carol Peterson; publicity, Linda Schwab; tables and chairs Terry Weber; and tickets, Janet Gauthier. Tickets may be obtained by calling Janet at Mokena 5447.

WILL ADDRESS PTA

Sgt. Peter Seeley, of the Tinley Park police force, is to be the speaker at the Sedan Prairie PTA meeting tonight. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the Sedan Prairie school.

Death Takes C.F. Knudson

Funeral services were held Monday for Clifford F. Knudson, 58 years old, a former Mokena resident and head of a Chicago wholesale hardware firm, who died Friday, Oct. 13, victim of a heart attack.

Mr. Knudson resided at 12202 South Ann St., Blue Island. The services were held from the Evangelical church there with burial in St. John's cemetery, Mokena.

He was born near Mokena on July 21, 1903, the son of Mrs. Rose and the late George Knudson. His wife is the former Lucile Hinspeter, of Frankfort. Besides his wife and mother, Mr. Knudson is survived by a son, Wayne C., of Elmhurst, and one brother, Clyde, of Stoughton, Wis.

He was owner and president of the Rollins Supply Co., a wholesale hardware firm he established 30 years ago. He was still operating the business at the time of his death.

Confirmation Date Set At Grace Church

The Rt. Rev. Gerald Francis Burrill, the Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, will be at Grace church, New Lenox, on Oct. 22 to confirm a class of children and adults prepared by the Rev. Richard A. Crist, the vicar of the church.

The sacrament of confirmation will be administered in the course of evening prayer at 4 p.m. with Bishop Burrill preaching the charge to the new members.

Five local girls are in the class. They are Elizabeth Maden, Maureen Schofield, Mary Schofield, Joan Stone and Gayle Stone. Father Crist said that this will be the largest class in many years.

Immediately following the service, there will be a reception for the bishop and confirmation class in the parish hall.

Railroads Sue Frankfort; Wants Land Piece Back

Suit has been filed in the Will county circuit court against the village of Frankfort by two railroads. They contend the village took possession of railroad land and is holding it unlawfully to the great damage, loss of profits et cetera, et cetera of the plaintiffs.

The village will file its answer within 30 days and at that time is expected to say in effect, that certainly it has been using land that was once owned by the railroads but that the village has been using it for so long, and without protest from the railroads, that it has become village property.

The railroads suing are the New York Central and Joliet and Northern Indiana. The land involved is now a part of Kansas street. The village has now fixed it up for a parking space as a part of the rehabilitation of that thoroughfare.

The history of the roadway goes back quite a few years, according to Village Clerk Walter Pfaff. Until its removal last year there was a home built out into Kansas street.

With this house jutting out into end of Kansas street traffic veered around it to the north us-

Plan Now For Industrial Growth, Expert Urges

"You can't avoid industrial and population explosion because you have the only good open-space for growth, near Chicago. However, this will bring great problems if planning is not started now. Twenty three of the 65 towns and cities in the area, have no planning."

These statements were made by Dr. Howard Roepke, associate professor of geography at the University of Illinois and a community development expert, in his address before about 150 persons at the all day conference on Community development sponsored by the Northern Illinois Gas Co., at Hazel Crest last Wednesday.

The area referred to by Dr. Roepke is north Will County and south Cook County. According to Dr. Roepke, it is only within the last ten years that people have begun to understand community development and that most development prior to that time was unplanned with results which are now unfortunate to many unplanned cities and towns. Results of lack of planning, sometimes brings in less desirable population demanding more services, but unable to contribute proportionately for those added services. Results may be public housing and urban redevelopment. He continued, "Many of your districts are at a time when enough is known to make planning easier and more rewarding than a few years ago when it took courage to insist on good planning."

Dr. Roepke stated communities must begin to plan for problems of public services, residential and industrial districts, land-use control, and zoning. He further went on that solving these problems takes planning. Public services may be adequate for present purposes, but what happens if, as is sure to come, you double or triple the population?

He pointed out the great advantages in transportation, labor and production as well as taxes, which the south suburban area has in eventually attracting industry.

"You have an unexcelled source of materials for new industries," he stated, "Eighty per cent of United States industries do not use a raw material - it all comes from other industries in semi-finished form. About 560 industries exist in the south side area which provide raw materials for other industries. The sources of industrial materials in your area cannot be matched in the whole world," Dr. Roepke declared.

Other speakers echoed the same ideas regarding the inevitability of our growth and also the fact that it is near at hand. They further repeatedly advised the audience that planning must be had and that towns and cities must make plans for exact presentations of industrial sites even the some of the business men of the town, must secure attractive sites thru purchase of farm property as a municipal venture, to attract proper industry. The idea that attractive sites can be pointed out in the form of adjacent farms and expectation that industry will be attracted, is not realistic. Industry is not in the real estate business and does not desire to enter the field. They want proper sites prepared and offered as a package. Municipalities must prove, by their actions, that they desire industrial growth. Industry will not come where it is unwanted. The Chamber of Commerce and service organizations must make a determined effort to aid in these objectives, to secure industry and balance in planning.

The speakers who especially emphasized the above point, were Charles F. Willson, head of industrial development for Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry; J. S. Frost, director of industrial development Illinois Central RR; and Louis B. Beardslee, Jr., President of the Louis B. Beardslee & Company, Inc., industrial realtors. Henry A. Diekmann, vice president of the Northern Illinois Gas as well as several of their top executives, aided in seminar activities outside of the main meeting.

These seminars were largely devoted to specific areas of interest. J. Merton West who is a vice president of the First National bank of Harvey, as well as a Will county supervisor from Crete, was especially interested in this end of Will county altho also in the whole county. George Tate, Frankfort, also a supervisor of Will county, had requested Burton Breidert of Frankfort and Maurice P. Angland with William Welsch of Mokena, to make reports, on the meeting.

Walter Fierke, superintendent of Tinley Park schools, and Henry W. Coffman, manager of industrial development for the New York Central, found a mutual interest in the Tinley Park area as Mr. Coffman's daughter, Mrs. Patricia Huss of Country Club Hills, came as a recent bride to reside in the Tinley Park area. Mr. Coffman was very helpful in suggestions on action needed to attract industry. He advised that selling industry itself on our attractions rather than too much reliance on real estate dealers, is very important. Dealers sell that which is easiest to sell, first!

The reason for industry paying large sums to locate on the north shore area rather than south of the lake where the highway grid offered fast transportation east and west as well as south can be attributed mainly to habit and social desires. Reasons for locating on north shore were largely that the managers liked to live close to their clubs or their friends and felt that higher costs of land and transportation, did not count too heavily. Mr. Coffman stated that industry directors are much more critical of such added production costs than only a few years ago.

He suggested that industrial acreage be presented on basis of economics, i.e. speed of transportation and acreage costs, etc. He gave as an example, acreage costs of $50,000 per acre on north shore with a ten acre plant site as against a $5,000 per acre site in our area. Assuming money to be worth six percent, it cost $30,000 per year to carry the $50,000 per acre site as against $3,000 per year for the $5,000 per acre site. In ten years this $50,000 per acre site would cost the firm $300,000 or enough to build a substantial plant addition. This saving aside from fact that unless there is a bridge built across Lake Michigan from the north shore, will make transportation costs to eastern markets even more expensive in the future. Frankfort and Mokena also have Land Use programs and complete separation of residential and industrial areas with plans for school areas, parks, etc.

Would Have Citizens Vote On Proposed SWS Jr. College

The possibility of a coming election for the proposed Community Junior college is in the air, as the Lincoln Way high school board made a formal recommendation to that effect at its meeting Thursday night.

The board agreed with a recent recommendation by the Citizens' committee that, altho everyone is in agreement with the need for a junior college in the area, the decision must be left to a vote of the residents in the areas to be affected.

Fate of the proposed Community college in the southwest suburban area will be determined at a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the board room of the Evergreen Park high school.

The ten school districts involved in the study, whose area must be contiguous according to the school code, are Lincoln Way, District 210; Reavis, District 220; Rich, District 227; Carl Sandburg, District 230; Argo, District 217; Blue Island, District 218; Bremen, District 228; Evergreen Park, District 231; Homewood-Flossmoor, District 233, and Oak Lawn, District 229.

Major purpose of the study is to provide information upon which the residents of the areas can make a decision as to whether or not they wish to establish a community college.

If a sufficient number of persons believe that a college district should be formed it is their privilege to present a petition to the proper authorities describing the boundaries of the proposed district and calling for an election to determine whether or not such a district shall be created.

The survey digest is now in print and will be ready for distribution at an early date.

Want Same Auto License Apply Before Nov. 1

Only a little more than three weeks remain before the Nov. 1 deadline for motorists who wish to retain their present license numbers to submit their applications. Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter reminded car owners this week.

No individual notifications of the approach of the deadline will be mailed this year, Carpenter said, because the letter-digit numbering system has resulted in the creation of many more desirable numbers than existed under the old numerical numbering system.

Under the provisions of the motor vehicle law, motorists are given the right to retain their numbers from year to year provided they apply before

Nov. 1 and request reassignment.

There is no extra charge for the service, as a proposal to establish an additional $3 fee presented to the 1961 session of the General Assembly failed to pass.

Application blanks are available at such outlets as banks, currency exchanges, newspaper offices, notaries public and justices of the peace.

The rainiest spot in the U.S. is the Island of Kawai, Hawaii, where 472 inches fall annually. Driest spot in the world: Wadi Haifa, in the Sudan, -- no rain for 19 years.

Need For Industry

Industrial development of the southwest area of Chicagoland--which of course includes our area -- is a matter that should interest all of us because it would effect us all.

The growth of the southwest region population-wise has been phenomenal. Thousands of new homes have been built and are now occupied. This is all very fine and while these homes will mean higher valuations and therefore more taxes the situation also calls for more services than communities can afford, even with the increase in tax revenues.

The building of more homes means more children and more children also mean more schools. Housing developments mean there are more streets to maintain; more police and fire protection to provide; more inspections and facilities to guard public health, to name a few required when population zooms.

Loading all such costs on home and farm owners is too great a burden for them to bear. There are some who advocate a state income tax but that is more likely to turn out to be an additional burden rather than a relief.

The best solution as we see it is to get someone to share the load. Light industry and manufacturing plants would be a solution. We do not intend to convey any idea that the burden should be transferred to industry. Industry could be expected to pay only its fair share but naturally with their valuations which are many times the valuation of residential property they would pay many times the amount paid by a home owner.

Industry, commercial enterprises and business are necessary if any community is to prosper and every village and city in the area should do its utmost to attract them. There is considerable competition in attracting industry so that the community that has planned for it is more likely to have success than one that has made no preparation.

Most of the villages today have enacted subdivision ordinances, outlining street and sidewalk requirements, landscaping, lot sizes, types of building and requiring water and sewer systems.

Such measures could be amended, or separate ordinances written, covering industrial developments. There are several communities in the northwest suburban area that have industrial parks that should be welcome any place.

A company seeking a new location for plant or headquarter offices wants to know in advance what condition it faces and must meet in erecting such, as well as information concerning labor market, transportation, housing, schools, churches and recreational facilities.

And such a company would prefer to have such conditions in ordinance form and not something subject to the whims of individuals.

Attracting industry to a community is not a monopoly for a chamber of commerce or city or village officials. Everyone in a community has a stake in its future. It is true that making initial contact with prospective plant owners is not a job for individual citizens but if a company sends representatives to the area for first hand information the attitude of the man of the street could have an important bearing.

Governor Kerner was quoted last week as saying that Illinois needs more industries and manufacturers and is asking the cooperation of communities and organizations in attracting them to the state.

We hope that many of them come and that a substantial share will chose to settle in the southwest area.

Business & Finance

The investment analyst watches spending for new plant and equipment as expenditures in this field confirm an uptrend in the business cycle or a down trend.

The Financial World notes that capital expenditures are usually a little less than projected, in down side of the business cycle and continue to drop after general business starts upward. Business sentiment is expressed in larger corporate appropriations for plant and equipment additions.

The major influence in capital outlays is expected to be in modernization with objective of cutting costs. Competition between commodities and also between firms, is forcing improvements. The business community has been expecting Congress to authorize a more realistic depreciation charge against equipment. The rate of invention and discovery, has greatly increased actual obsolescence of equipment. It is expected that Congress will recognize this fact by a change in tax laws next year. After such change, the rate of spending on equipment will be expected to increase considerably.

A number of the investment services are noting that the present copper situation, warrants study.

Copper fabricators are reported to have order backlogs at highest level since early 1960 and deliveries to final consumers for first eight months, were close to the peacetime record in 1955.

Copper supply has been slowed in domestic market by strike shut downs which has cut into inventories. In addition, African production in Katanga (Belgium) is expected to be in a state of unrest and unstable for some time. Chile mines have been in a state of strike and unrest for some time. Copper being a world commodity altho protected as to domestic production, by a 1.7 tariff.

The 2 cent reduction in aluminum prices, had its effect in the copper market as in some applications there is competition. However, at 31 cents per pound, most domestic producers can do very well.

The major copper producers are: Anaconda, Inspiration Consolidated, Kennecott, Magma Copper, and Phelps Dodge.

Labor costs. This item is receiving close attention from investors. Total wage costs are expanded considerably by so-called fringe benefits which are company costs regardless of labels. Political pressures have been heavy to refrain from price increases regardless of these increases. Certain low wage industries will be effected by the new minimum wage law which went into effect last month. These would be textiles, shoes, retailing, etc.

The Financial World has compiled a list of 15 firms with direct wage costs of less than 20 percent. Standard & Poor survey of major industries on this basis, found an average of 28 percent with some as high as 50 percent.

The food and dairy industry, has been rather highly automated for some years and has a low labor ratio. The oil industry has had one of the lowest industry labor ratios. Socony Mobil has a ratio of 9.1 percent and Texaco 12 percent.

The selection of the 15 low labor costs firms, is: American Hospital Supply, Armour & Co., Beatrice Foods, Carnation, General Foods, General Portland Cement, Lorillard, McKesson Robbins, National Dairy Products, Pacific Gas & Electric, Socony Mobil, Texaco, and U.S. Gypsum.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN
Theory, Principle and Precedent -- on these three rest the Law, and the greatest of these is Precedent.

Or so it seems to a layman whose duties from time to time have taken him into the law courts and the offices of their clerks.

That is why a current case in Tennessee is intriguing to judges, lawyers and court attaches, wherever they may be, a jury of 12 good men and true after hearing the evidence in a murder trial there and arriving at a verdict, then proceeded to kick the living be-ginger out of Precedent -- the jurors changed their minds and "took back" their verdict!

Sad to relate, in the history of jurisprudence there have been instances when a juror or jury has been influenced thru cash, friendship or fear to return a verdict contrary to the evidence. Such action, of course is to be deplored but to many legalistic minds this would be preferable to giving Precedent the swift kick in the pants it has received in this Tennessee case.

The Tennessee case was really a very simple one. Six men -- five of them being from the same family, a father and four sons -- were tried for the slaying of two deputy sheriffs and the wounding of a third officer in the course of a little set-to with pistols and such. Clashes between peace officers and citizenry in Tennessee are not uncommon and frequently end up in graveside services for a number of the participants.

Copies of the Knoxville News-Sentinel received by this department which refer to the case in point do not give the particulars on which the men were tried so your correspondent is unable to tell you just what all the shooting was about.

On the surface one might be inclined to the belief that the lawmen were ambushed or else the officers were set upon so quickly that they didn't have a chance for action. The other alternative is that the officers were just plain bad shots. For them to have failed winging at least one out of six would be a sad commentary on the marksmanship of Tennessee peace officers. We would rather believe the law people were bush-whacked.

Peace officers -- any kind of an officer that wears a uniform or badge in fact -- appear to be a highly expendable item in Tennessee or Kentucky, especially in those parts where squeezing corn without benefit of a permit from the internal revenue department is a major industry.

The stories we read in the Knoxville paper were not concerned with the slayings per se, as the barristers say, but rather with the action by the jury.

Originally the jurors had returned a verdict finding one of the defendants guilty of two counts of second degree murder and one defendant guilty of felonious assault upon a third deputy sheriff. The other four defendants were acquitted.

In Tennessee second degree murder carries a minimum penalty of 10 years in prison and a maximum sentence of 20 years and the jury is required to fix the penalty.

This jury failed to do and the trial judge sent them back to their room to attend to this chore. After deliberating 35 minutes without reaching a conclusion the jurors knocked off for the night and went to bed.

They debated the question the next day and finally after several hours the foreman reported they were hopelessly deadlocked on the punishment angle. They were sent back again to deliberate and this time when the jurors reported they informed the court they were calling the whole thing off and "retracting" their verdict. As far as the jury was concerned all six defendants were where they had started, each charged with two counts of first degree murder and each charged with one count of felonious assault, with no one found guilty and no one acquitted.

The judge said he had never heard of such a thing before and the attorneys--prosecution and defense -- said likewise they were sure.

The judge declared a mistrial. The prosecution said they would try everybody over again. Not so fast please, defense lawyers interjected, trying the men over again, they pointed out, especially those who had been acquitted, would place them double jeopardy.

There has been a great rush for the law books by both sides but they haven't been able to find any precedent. The defense is writing reams of petitions for habeas corpus and no doubt before the matter is closed the lawyers will be exhausted as well as the whole stock of latin phrases with which the law is equipped.

The judge said he was too busy now to handle any writs or anything else connected with the case and added that when and if the case was tried again it would be before another judge but before that time comes the hopes that the supreme court of Tennessee steps in and settles some of the questions at stake, including whether he, the judge said "these cases" or "three cases" in declaring a mistrial.

of the legal profession is that while this jury may have boot-ed precedent out the window it could also be said they have established a precedent.

Prosecutors and judges hope not.

It is possible that the jury had a very good reason for their "retraction." On the copy of the paper received by this department was a notation written by the sender across the picture of the jury:

"These people don't want to be shot in the back."

Who does?

THE PASTORS DESK

THE MESSAGE OF HOPE
"O Lord, rebuke me not in thy anger, nor chasten me in thy wrath.
Be gracious to me, O Lord, for I am languishing:
O Lord heal me, for my bones are troubled.
My soul is sorely troubled.
But thou, O Lord -- how long?
(Psalm 6: 1-3)

You could not ignore this young man as you looked over the group of teenagers that boarded the subway train. He talked to no one. He was ignored by the remainder of the students. He seemed to be alone. He was eagerly watching the other youth as if he wished to be noticed.

Many people in our day are alone. They voice the cry of the psalmist, "Be gracious to me, O Lord, for I am languishing." Trouble, doubts, and anxieties seem to surround us. They bind us to a perpetual loneliness which can only be lifted through Jesus Christ. We are never alone when we know that God will deliver us from our aloneness. His steadfast love leads us into the company of the faithful members of His Kingdom. God's love and His Word are a message of hope and joy leading us to the fulfillment of our beings. The Lord does hear our supplications and accepts our prayers, and, from His boundless love, He sends us our Redeemer, Jesus, Christ.

PRAYER
Lead on, O King Eternal, our lives are in Thy hands. We know that Thou art with us. Guide us that we may be Thy children and help to lead others into the fellowship of Thy love. Glory be to Thee, O Lord, our God, Amen.
DAILY THOUGHT
No man is alone when Jesus Christ is near.

Hints For Homeowners

By: James Fizzell, Ass't. Farm Adviser
All garden plants and lawns need a little fall care to help them endure the ravages of winter.

Most deciduous and evergreen trees and shrubs need plenty of available soil moisture as they go into the winter season. During cool fall weather, bluegrass lawns also need plenty of soil moisture. With the tremendous amount of rain we have had this season, artificial watering will not be necessary.

Gladiolus plants should be dug when the corms are mature. You can tell when they are ready by scooping some of the soil away from the corm and observing the leaf scales on it. When they are light brown and papery, they are ready to dig. At this point, cut off the tops and dig up the plants. Let them air-dry on the soil surface for several hours. Complete drying in a shady, well-ventilated area. Dust lightly with 5 percent DDT and store in paper bags in a cool dry place.

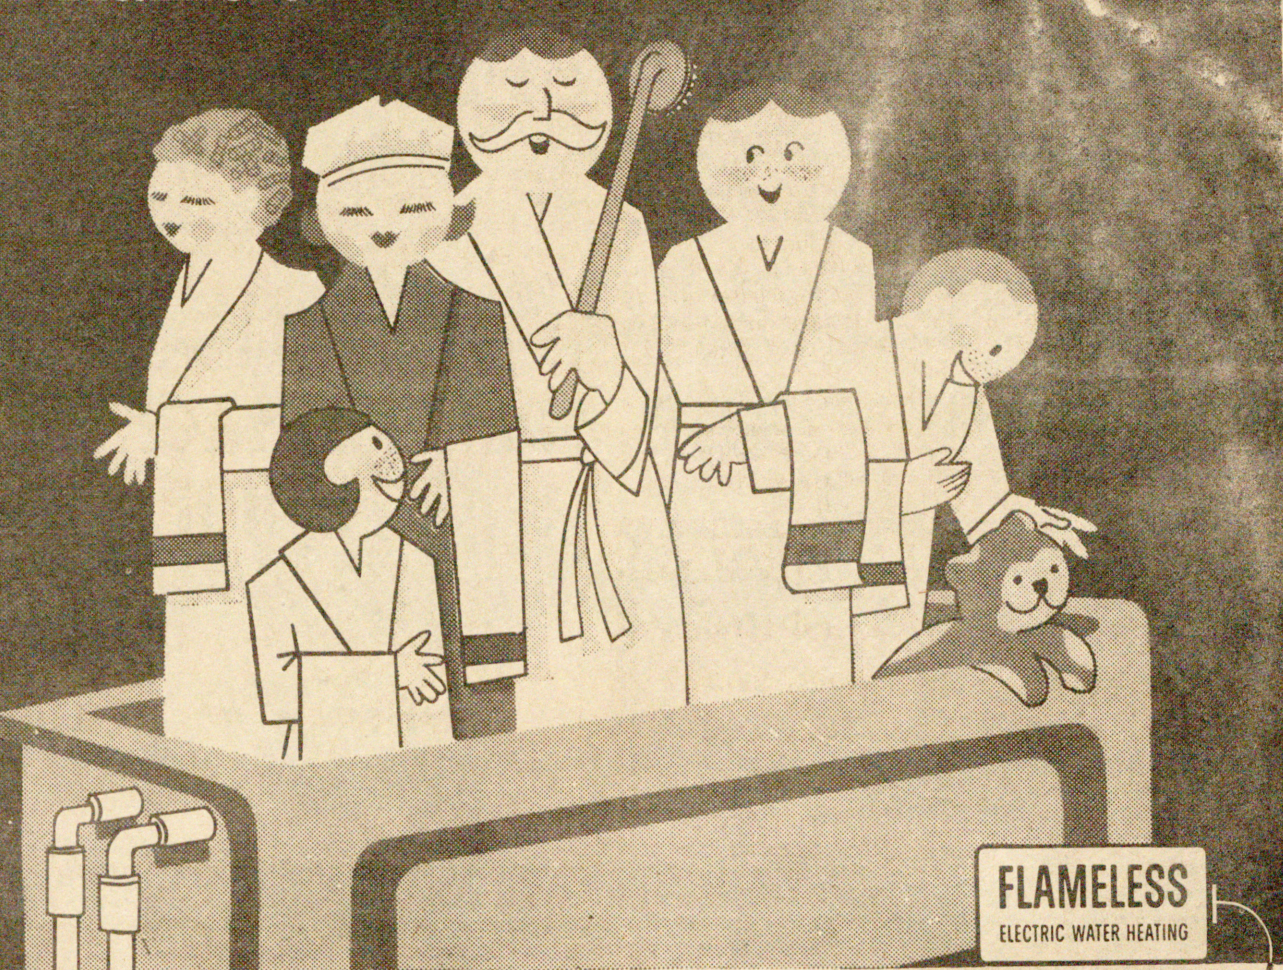

Dahlias should be dug before a hard freeze. Trim the tops, but be careful not to break off the dormant buds at the base of the stems. The root clumps may be stored in a perforated plastic bag to prevent excessive drying. Store at a temperature of about 40 to 50 degrees F.

The stems of peony bushes should be cut off at the soil line after the plants become dormant. After the ground freezes, a light mulch of organic matter is desirable because it prevents alternate freezing and thawing.

After the first severe frost, protect tender bush roses with a mound of soil about one foot high. After the ground freezes, cover the mound with a mulch of crushed corn cobs, sawdust or other mulching matter. To keep bush roses from being whipped by wind, cut them down to a height of 15 to 18 inches.

Remove climbing roses from the trellis, lay them on the ground and cover with soil. They too can use a mulch. booklet is designed to show examples of working feeding systems to farmers interested in building mechanized feeding installations of their own.

PMA Reports $346,000 Gain In Past 8 Months

A financial gain of $346,000 in the operations of Pure Milk Association for the first eight months of this year was reported to nearly 300 PMA delegates from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan at their annual fall meeting at Chicago.

Avery A. Vose, PMA president, pointed out that this net gain in savings resulted from improved income, reductions in expenditures, and savings in marketing functions and various plant operations.

A. L. McWilliams, PMA general manager, emphasized Pure Milk Association's role as a bargaining and plant-operating cooperative in bringing producers who ship to the Chicago Order 41 milk market and best prices they have been paid for milk in eight years.

The superpool, which pays Order 41 producers a premium over the minimum Class I price announced by the market administrator, was initiated by PMA in 1958, McWilliams said, and has been continued through the association's leadership as a plant-operating cooperative.

"PMA members own about half of all the co-op plants in the market and these plants are what make it possible to negotiate superpools," he said, adding that without plants to handle milk, producer bargaining would be a sham.

He told the delegates that in 1961, alone, PMA members will receive $3 million from the superpool and $3 1/3 million from bulk tank premiums.

McWilliams outlined the steps taken by PMA to improve producer prices. On the national front, increases in price supports on manufacturing milk have been accomplished by working through the National Milk Producers Federation which represents PMA and a total of more than 500,000 dairy farmers across the nation, he said.

Complete New 240 Bed Unit At Oak Forest Hosp.

President John J. Duffy of the county board announced the completion of work on a new 240-bed unit at Oak Forest hospital. The U-shaped, two-story building, with full basement, was constructed and equipped at a cost of approximately $2,000,000 from 1957 bond funds.

The new structure brings to 61 the number of institutional buildings on the Oak Forest grounds which consist of 337 acres at the southeast corner of 159th st. and Cicero ave., in Bremen township.

The additional space thus provided will not increase immediately the hospital's 2,282 bed capacity, however. The new unit this week was filled with patients transferred from another building, known as the Northeast Pavilion.

The interior of this latter building, he pointed out, will be completely remodeled at a cost of $1,487,000 during the coming year to make it conform with space standards required by the state department of public health which licensed Oak Forest as a geriatrics hospital in 1956. Bed space for each patient, under the requirements, must be not less than 80 square feet - an area eight feet wide by ten feet long.

After remodeling, however, the old pavilion will accommodate 500 beds, thus increasing the hospital's total bed capacity to 2,782, it was pointed out.

Edmund G. Lawler, superintendent at Oak Forest, said this week that because the institution always is filled, some of the 400 chronic invalids on the waiting list cannot be admitted for two or three months.

This was an all-out church project in which men, women, boys and girls participated. More than 300 persons enjoyed chances with what might appear to be an ordinary cold, warn the Schering people. If, after reasonable home treatment, the condition doesn't improve, have your family physician check you over. The common cold has a way of becoming something more serious if not treated properly.

Eagles Humble Knights In Homecoming Game 40-0

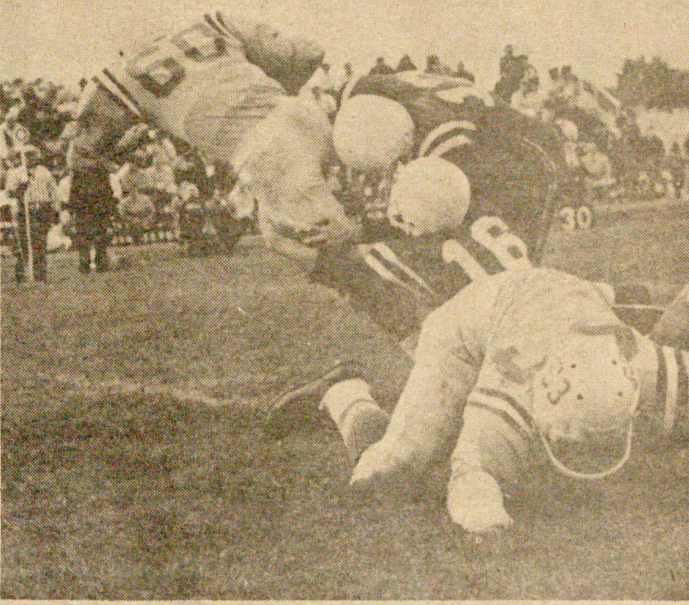

The Eagles of Carl Sandburg High School dented the armor of the Lincoln-Way Knights repeatedly last Saturday as they won their eighth straight homecoming game 40-0.

The Knights were unable to halt the thrusts of the speedy Sandburg backfield advancing behind a line that outweighed and outplayed the Lincoln-Way defenders.

Ernie Sharpe, leading scorer in the Southwest Suburban Conference picked up another 15 points scoring two touchdowns and kicking three extra points. The Sandburg sophomore ran 62 yards for one TD and nine yards for the other. In 10 carries, Ernie averaged 14 yards. Jim Lavine, Sandburg's signal caller, scored twice using a QB sneak.

Dan Wasick, Eagle left half, previously on light duty because of a bruised ankle, looked in fine shape Saturday carrying 13 times for 98 yards. He scored two touchdowns, one on a four yard plunge and another on a 36 yard pass from QB Lavine.

The statistics support the score as the Eagles show 15 first downs on 378 yards by rushing and 68 yards gained on 4 completed passes for a total yards gained of 446 to Lincoln-Way's total of 141 yards earned. The Knights completed one pass for 12 yards and got 129 yards on the ground. Friday afternoon the Eagles travel to Oak Lawn to play the Spartans who own a 1-3 record while the Knights play host to the Vikings of Homewood-Flossmoor on Saturday.

Frankfort Extends Sales Tax To Service Category

The Frankfort village board at its regular meeting Monday night adopted an ordinance extending its sales tax measure to cover tangible property involved in service operations.

The state had a law enacted at the last regular session to stop what some considered exceptions in the payment of sales tax on materials and is asking all cities and village to include it in their ordinances if they share in the sales tax. It makes easier bookkeeping for the state, it was pointed out, and will bring in some revenue to municipalities.

Some municipalities figure that since they must now pay sales tax on their purchases -- formerly they were exempt -- the extension of service occupational tax may enable them to break even in this field.

The new ordinance will become effective Nov. 1.

Henry Hossbach, who resides outside the village, asked the council for relief from flood conditions. A ditch which formerly carried storm water away from his property has been filled in Frankfort and has served as a dam after heavy rains. The land is owned by the E.J. & E. railroad and is under lease. The village will ask the railroad to open the ditch. Ray Warning was complaining of too much storm water in the vicinity of his commercial garage and Harlan Eisenbrandt appeared to register a complaint about the condition of East Bowen street and McDonald lane. Of the latter he complains that when cars are parked on both sides there isn't room for another car on the street.

The board voted to approve the sewer and water systems for Connecticut Hills when the village engineer appraises it he is satisfied they are acceptable.

Village Clerk Walter Pfaff reported 419 applications have been filed seeking permits to make sewer connections. There are still nine property owners who have not applied for permits, he stated. The deadline for making connections, the board reminded property owners, is Nov. 1. After that date there will be penalties for those who ignore it.

The board authorized payment of $7,015 for interest on revenue water and sewer bonds. This represents a six month payment on $300,000.

The grade school board asked permission to put up portable traffic signs. Police Chief Francis Simon was instructed to confer with school authorities.

S.J. Putz Dies At 85, Rites Friday

Steven J. Putz, 85 years old, of 78th ave. and U.S. 30, Lincoln Estates, died Tuesday, Oct. 17, at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet. He had been a patient there for three weeks but had been ill for sometime before that.

A native of Posen, Poland, Mr. Putz came to the United States when he was 16 -- 69 years ago -- and had resided most of his life in the area.

For many years he operated a gasoline station at 159th and Wolf road and at that time was a resident of Orland Park. It was after he retired in 1947 that Mr. Putz moved to Lincoln Estates in Frankfort township.

Besides his wife, the former Amelia Helms, Mr. Putz is survived by one son, Leon, of Dyer, Ind., and six grandchildren.

Removal was to the Schmaedeke funeral home, Orland Park, where friends may call this afternoon and evening. Services will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning in St. Mary's church, Mokena, with burial in St. James cemetery, at the Sag.

Shirley Klotz-Edmud Wondrasek Recite Wedding Vows In St. Jude's Church

Miss Shirley Klotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klotz of Frankfort was united in marriage to Edmund Wondrasek, son of Mrs. Emanuel Wondrasek of 1167 North Cedar road, New Lenox, Saturday, Sept. 16 at 11 o'clock in the morning in St. Jude's church, New Lenox.

The Rev. John Wondrasek, cousin of the groom, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white carnations, mums and palm arrangements. Mrs. Henry Griffin, church organist, played appropriate wedding selections during the service.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a white silk organza and lace floor length gown featuring a lace scoop neckline with long tapering sleeves. The bouffant skirt, cascading into a chapel train, was adorned with embroidered lace appliques. Her fingertip French silk illusion veil was attached to an iridescent seed pearl tiara. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascading bouquet of white gladiolus and snow drift pom poms.

Mrs. Donald Klotz, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor and was attired in an orchid silk organza sheath with matching overskirt. The shirred bodice was accented with a draped V neckline, short sleeves, shirred cummerbund with an added back interest of a self fabric rosette. A silk organza petal cloche with blusher veil completed her outfit. She carried a cascade bouquet of fuji mums.

Four bridesmaids, dressed identical to the matron of honor, were Mrs. Roger Wischover, sister of bride; Mrs. John Randolph; Miss Carole Crouse and Miss Diana Wondrasek, sister of the groom.

Miss Pamela Cross, flower girl, wore a dress of white silk organza accented with a scoop neckline and puff sleeves, featuring a multicolored shirred cummerbund with a multicolored bustle bow placed at the back of the waist. She wore a hat similar to the bridesmaids and carried a basket of rose petals.

Sonny Robert Voss, ringbearer, was dressed like the groom's attendants.

Serving the groom as best man was Robert Voss, brother-in-law of the groom and usher's duties were carried out by Paul Ehrlich, Max Ehrlich, Donald Klotz, brother of the bride and Harvey Cross.

When the some 300 guests arrived at the Cantigny VFW post, Joliet, for the 6:30 p.m. reception the bride's mother, Mrs. Klotz, greeted the guests in a pink silk organza sheath accented with a scooper neckline lace bodice. A white iridescent pearl hat, white gloves and pearl jewelry completed her outfit. She wore a white gladiolus corsage. The groom's mother, Mrs. Wondrasek, chose a blue lace sheath with a shirred cummerbund with a side drape of blue satin and chose crystal jewelry to accent her outfit. She also wore a white gladiolus corsage. Special guest at the wedding and reception was Mrs. Ludwig Wondrasek, grandmother of the groom.

The bride changed into a blue sheath with black and white accessories and wore a white gladiolus corsage when the couple left on a western wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Wondrasek are now at home to their friends at Tinley Park. The bride is employed with F&M cleaners, Tinley Park and the groom is associated with C. D. Gray Excavating of Orland Park.

Hearing Problem?

Read what one lady wrote:
Why I like your Hearing Service Plan

1. I have a better quality aid than one I could afford to buy outright. No large investment.
2. All batteries and repairs are included so my aid is right and I'm hearing my best.
3. I don't have to save on batteries by turning it off several times a day—Now I hear all my waking hours.
4. No liability—I just pay a fair rental each month. Just like my telephone service.
5. Extensive hearing tests to make sure you can first benefit from an aid and second to select the right one for you (including the quality precision fitted MAICO aids).

If you don't hear as well as you think you should—you owe it to yourself and your family to investigate this plan.

Come in or telephone for a home appointment. There is no obligation.

Report Of J.P. Collections For 4 Months Show Slight Increase

(CNS) The work records of south and southwest suburban justices of the peace in the first 4 1/4 months of being on the county payroll at $5,500 per year instead of keeping their fees remained worse than those in the county as a whole, according to the Aug. 31 IBM tabulation completed this week by the office of Deputy County Comptroller C. Richard Hodgman.

All 73 justices — one having died and one resigned from the original 75—showed some improvement in August. Fees turned in by the end of the month totaled $36,242.66, equivalent to 24 per cent of the $151,149.89 paid them in salaries and for expenses, compared with $19,168.75 or 16.8 per cent of the $113,758.80 spent by the end of July.

If $65,595 in fines collected by the county thru August be applied toward the self-help campaign, altho the county received the fines before the justices were on the payroll, collections were 67.4 per cent of expenses Aug. 31 compared with 57.8 per cent July 31.

However, the total figures were deceptive concerning the general level of work because if the seven busiest justices be eliminated, who handled the big state and sheriff police courts, the remaining 66 produced only $16,205 in fees, or 12 per cent of their salaries, and $11,080 in fines to make their total yield 20 pct.

Also, 19 of the 73 turned in no fees at all, including 12 who did not report disposition of a single case, altho two of them performed one marriage each at $3 while drawing $1,975 in pay. One of these was Joseph A. Pociask of Lemont, and his solitary "judicial" act did not come until after August 15, his report showed.

Edward J. Hunt of Oak Lawn, Worth township, who hears state traffic cases, disposed of most cases, 1,069, while collecting $906 in fees, the second most. He also is the champion fine collector south, with $4,205.40 remitted so far.

Following, in order of decreasing case dispositions, are the records of the remaining south suburban justices:

Lawrence Lawless, Park Forest, Rich township, 299 cases closed, 14 pending, $401 in fees remitted.

Romie J. Palmer of Blue Island, Worth township, 213 cases closed, 64 pending, $545 in fees, $919.40 in fines.

Roy Benson of Orland Park, Orland township, a real estate man, 146 cases closed, five pending, $316 fees, $1,287 fines.

Elbert F. Elmore of Midlothian, Bremen township, 104 cases closed, 30 pending, $472 in fees.

Howard E. Orr of Palos Heights, Worth township, 101 cases closed, four pending, $304 fees, $314 fines.

Walter D. Brock of Harvey, Thornton township, 96 cases closed, 10 pending, $32 fees, $623 fines.

Raymond Baumgartner, Riverdale, Calumet township, 76 cases closed, two pending, $34 fees, $5 fine.

Donald E. Arnell of Chicago Heights, Bloom township, 61 cases closed, 43 pending, $951 in fees.

Leland H. Rayson of Tinley Park, Bremen township, 16 cases closed, four pending, $81 in fees and $8 in fines. Three marriages.

Albert L. Wheeler of Orland Park, Orland township, a restaurant owner, 12 cases closed, 17 pending, $152.

William W. Winterhoff, Lansing, Thornton township, one case closed, one pending, $8 in fees remitted. He has reported collecting $3 for a marriage in June, $8 for court costs in July, and $5 in August.

GOP Chairman Will Address Worth Group

Francis X. Connell, chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Cook County, will address the Young Republican Organization of Worth next Tuesday night, Oct. 24. This will be a regular meeting starting at 8:00 p.m., at Banana's Steak House, 9401 S. Cicero.

Mr. Connell has held the position of Chairman since 1958. He studied pre-law at the University of Illinois and then earned a law degree from De Paul university in Chicago. While attending the U. of I, he helped organize many Young Republican clubs and later became president of the Illinois Young Republican Organization.

Teachers Discuss Far East Problems

Charles Clark, social studies teacher, represented Lincoln-Way high school at a seminar conducted and sponsored by the West Suburban Council for the Social Studies, the Asia Society and the NCA foreign relations committee Oct. 4, at Fenton high school in Bensenville, Illinois.

The subject of the seminar was "Teaching Non-Western Civilizations--Far East".

Dr. J. Norman Parmer, department of history from Northern Illinois university, presented the necessity of teaching Far Eastern Affairs in the high schools.

Mr. Clark had some comments after the seminar concerning the social studies curriculum at Lincoln-Way. He feels that consideration should be given to adding more Far East history content to the present freshman course and to the course in world history.

The Boy Scouts and Explorers will represent Scout Troops from all parts of Rainbow council, comprised of Will, Grundy, and Kankakee counties.

Nearly two thousand parents, visitors and Cub Scouts are expected to attend the special Saturday afternoon and evening program which is open to the general public.

Each Boy Scout troop and Explorer post participating in the Jamborette will construct an unusual gateway to be erected at their campsite entrance. A unit award will be presented for the most unusual gateway, the most colorful gateway, and the best constructed gateway.

According to Robert J. Herschbach, council president, climax of the two day camp will be an amateur show by the Scouts and a closing campfire which will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday. The campfire is open to the public.

In addition to Black, other members of the Jamborette committee are John Enrietta, Gerald Bitner, Robert Malmquist, John Root, and Mickey Brooks. Serving as advisors to the Jamborette will be John F. Ritter, Scout executive, Gene E. Murphy, assistant Scout executive, Paul M. Tikalsky, field director, Thomas R. Chell, Jerry T. Long and Robert A. Rogers, district executives.

Colorful Arrangements Highlight Annual Garden Federation Luncheon, Flower Show

The annual fall luncheon and flower show of the Will County Federation of Garden Clubs was held this week at the First Presbyterian church, Joliet, Mrs. Arthur Fritz of Park Ridge, lecturer and creator of artistic flower arrangements, gave the program, "What to Grow and How to Preserve Plant Material for Winter Use".

The Joliet Botanical Garden club was host at the luncheon immediately following the program. The table decorations for the luncheon consisted of baskets of gourds, decorative squash, grapes, apples and other effectively used fruits.

New officers for the coming year were elected Mrs. Carl Van Horn of the Plainfield Garden club was installed as president; Mrs. Alfred Menzer of the Joliet Garden-aire, vice-president; Mrs. J. L. McCain of the Hampton Park Garden club, secretary; and Mrs. Walter Clausen of the Wilmington Garden club, treasurer. Mrs. R. G. Whitmore of Wilmington and Mrs. Leon Frey of New Lenox will serve on the board of directors.

For the annual spring meeting in 1962, the Peotone Garden forum will be host for the luncheon. The Wilmington Garden club will be in charge of the flower show.

At the flower show in the afternoon, under the direction of the Joliet Floral and Garden club, the Lockport Flower Growers received a tri-color ribbon for their dinner table entry entitled "Harvest Time". The table was set with a light brown cloth, plates centered with a brown rose and green thumb-print goblets. The arrangement consisted of green fruits and bronze-colored mums in an antique pewter container. The New Lenox Garden club received a blue ribbon for its luncheon table, "Indian Summer".

In the horticulture division of the flower show, a tri-color was awarded for a pink hybrid tea rose, "The Stork", entered by Mrs. B. F. Konopack of the Joliet Floral and Garden club. Mrs. Arthur Wunsch of the Lemont Garden club won an award of distinction for an artistic arrangement of all dried material, entitled "Spirits of the Past". Judges for the show were Mrs. Walter Houchin of New Lenox and Mrs. James Overall.

Speaking of Beauty by Mr. Joseph Formerly with Helena Rubinstein New Kind of Color

Today we've been making a fabulous reputation with a new coloring technique. Call it "tinting", "frosting", "shading" — it is, really, a blending of colors which gives us an opportunity to make the most of your most attractive features. For instance, by lightening your hair just at the mark of the hairline, we can make your low forehead look a whole lot higher. Or well-placed streaks of blondeness can call attention to the beautiful molding of cheekbones in an "ordinary" face beneath brunette tresses.
